

Get involved!

We are the UK's first-ever festival dedicated to talking about sexual assault and consent through the arts and discussion. From July 30 - Aug 2 in Central London, survivors, artists, psychologists, performers, activists, writers, and the public will come together in a vibrant, very human exploration of themes around sexual abuse, sexual violence, and consent. On our website, you can learn more about our:

Theatre Film Visual Art Comedy Spoken Word
Panel Discussions Creative Workshops Open-Door Sessions

Intrigued? Here's how you can help!

- Pledge to our Crowdfunder campaign (ends July 8th) — even £10 helps!
- Connect with us on Facebook and Twitter
- Spread the word to your networks, listservs, and press contacts
- Mark it in your calendars — tickets will be released in early July

We have a great, dedicated team of volunteers who've set up the festival from scratch, but as we head into our final month, we'll be ramping up our activity. We could definitely use more volunteers, especially those with experience in:

- Publications and graphic design
- Managing teams
- Sponsorship
- Event management, communications, and marketing

Join us as we aim to replace the shame and silence usually associated with this issue, with insight, understanding and community. Let's start the conversations that don't always happen, and find our way of creating change.

You can reach us at: info@clearlines.org.uk or www.clearlines.org.uk